

Center thanks volunteers for their loyal service

By Erica Opisso
Staff Writer

The same hands that have folded napkins over laps or taken blood pressure readings were treated to pampering manicures during a volunteer recognition event at The Players Senior Community Center.

Stylists from Brittany's Spa Salon set up shop in the center, and spent the morning pampering volunteers with massages, manicures and hair-dos.

Chris Tokarski has been volunteering at The Players Senior Community Center for four years and said it was hard to get most of the volunteers to take a break.

"It's out of character for us to accept this," she said, "but it's really, really nice."

Volunteer Fran Davey gets a massage from Alissa Kochis of Brittany's Spa Salon.

PHOTOS BY ERICA OPISSEO

Stylists from Brittany's Spa Salon pamper volunteers from The Players Community Senior Center. Melanie Jones adds a coat of polish to Doris Drost's nails in the foreground while Angie Reese takes care of Jo Mickler.

Brittany Molina, owner of Brittany's Spa Salon, said she kept her appointment book empty just for the volunteers, and was happy to provide the services free of charge.

Brittany Molina, owner of Brittany's Spa Salon, begins to style volunteer Mindy Mathias' hair.

Linda Wiggins and Kay Green of the St. Johns County Council on Aging.

